PRICE FIVECENTS.

KENTUCKY

Members of C. K. of A. Will Hold State Convention in This City.

Two Busy Business Sessions Will Complete All the Work.

Trolley Rides and Big Banquet Provided For Entertainment of Visitors.

THE ORDER IS HOLDING ITS OWN

The Kentucky State convention of the Catholic Knights of America will be held in this city next Tuesday, and if possible, the business will be transacted in one day. The Central Committee, through its Entertainment Committee, has been the chief factor in arranging for the reception and proper entertainment of the delegates and visitors. Quite a number of ladies are expected to accompany the delegates, and to see that they are properly provided for a special committee of ladies presided over by Mrs. William M. Higgins has been organized.

The delegates will assemble at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, where the Very Rev. Father Westermann will celebrate high mass. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. P. M. J. Rock, a veteran member of the order. After the religious ceremonies the delegates will proceed to the new and handsome home of the Knights of Columbus, where the first business session will be held. After President Deitermann has called the convention to order William M. Higgins, Chairman of the Entertainment Committee, will deliver an address of welcome. The program committee will then be appointed, after which a recess will be declared to give them a chance to organize and formulate their reports. During the recess the delegates and visitors will be given a ride over the city, and will be shown various points of interest.

After luncheon the business sessions will be resumed, the reports of the various State officers and committees will be read and acted upon, and the new officers elected. Great interest is centered in the race for State President between Miss Corcoran and State Treasurer. The incumbents are Charles Deitermann, Covington; Albert F. Martin, Louisville, and Sylvester Rapier, New Haven.

In the evening all will assemble at Bosler's Hotel, Second and Jefferson streets, where a large number of cars will be on hand. The cars will leave promptly at 7:30 o'clock and after a ride over the principal thoroughfares the party will be taken to Senning's Park, where an excellent banquet will be provided. Col. Jacob P. McGinn will be the toastmaster. The Rev. Father P. M. J. Rock will deliver the opening address, and State President Deitermann will respond to the toast: "Catholic Knights of America." After a vocal solo by William Veenneman, Major Gen. Michael Belcher will respond to "The Uniform Rank of the Knights of Columbus," the first lady in the State to join the order, will talk about "Knighthood in Kentucky." Harry L. Veenneman will respond to "The Central Committee." "Experiences in Ireland" will be the subject of an address by Supreme Delegate Thomas Gleason, of Covington, and William M. Higgins will have something to say about "The Press." After that other delegates will be called upon for impromptu talks.

About forty delegates are expected, and during the convention their headquarters will be at Bosler's Hotel. The order in Kentucky and throughout the country is holding its own, as will be shown by the reports of the State officers.

SILVER JUBILEE.

Father Lawrence Kearney Twenty-five Years a Priest.

The Very Rev. Father J. R. Clark, O. P., Prior of St. Louis Bertrand's Convent, will leave Monday for Zanesville, Ohio, to assist at the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Very Rev. Provincial of the Dominicans, Father Lawrence P. Kearney, O. P. The celebration will be held at St. Thomas' monastery, Zanesville, next Wednesday. The heads of Dominican houses all over the province will be on hand to offer their felicitations to their very reverend superior.

Father Kearney is not yet fifty years old. He is robust, of massive physique, engaging manner, a profound student, and in all probability the greatest pulpit orator in the Dominican order. He is, moreover, a Kentuckian. Born at Lexington, he received his early education in this State. Later he went to the University of Louvain and was graduated with distinguished honors. On returning to America he was made novice master at St. Rose convent in Washington county. Eleven years ago he was elected Provincial of the Dominicans and has held that important office ever since. To his foresight and management is due the erection of the Dominican College and monastery, which is such an important adjunct to the Catholic University in Washington. Never in the history of the province has any other man served as its head for eleven years.

Bishop Hartley, of Columbus, Ohio, and many other priests will assist at Father Kearney's silver jubilee next Wednesday.

NEW BISHOP.

Noted Derry Parish Priest Is Notified of His Selection.

The Very Rev. Father John Tohill, parish priest in the County Down, has been formally notified of his selection by the Holy See as Bishop of Down and Connor, one of the most important dioceses in Ireland. The Bishop-elect was born in the parish of Tamlaghtoorilly, Diocese of Derry, fifty-three years ago. In Maynooth, Ireland's great ecclesiastical college, he made his theological studies. After a distinguished course he was ordained in 1878. Wherever his lot has been cast, since then Father Tohill won the affection and esteem of the people, and his elevation to the Episcopate has given universal satisfaction to the Catholic body throughout the diocese over which he has been appointed to rule. Dr. Tohill has taken an active part in safeguarding Catholic interests. He presented the case of his coreligionists to the Day Commission on the Belfast riots of 1886 in an able manner. His cross-examination by Mr. Campbell, K. C., was most interesting, and it was generally admitted that he acquitted himself splendidly. He prominently advocated Catholic rights when the Belfast Corporation bill was introduced in 1895, and the city wards were arranged so as to give Catholic representation in the council. He compiled a pamphlet stating clearly and vigorously the municipal grievances of the Belfast Catholics.

ETERNAL REST

For Thomas Sullivan, an Old and Esteemed Citizen.

The funeral of Thomas Sullivan, who died at the family residence, 126 Hepburn avenue, late Thursday night of last week, took place from St. John's church Saturday morning. The deceased was seventy-five years old and a native of Ireland, but had lived in Louisville nearly sixty years. The Very Rev. Father Lawrence Bax, who officiated at the wedding of Mr. Sullivan in 1837, and who also officiated at the fiftieth wedding anniversary a year ago, celebrated the requiem mass last Saturday. Mr. Sullivan was survived by his wife and three daughters. They are Sister Mary Martha, Superior of St. Vincent's Orphan Asylum; Sister Thomas Marie, of St. Mary's Academy, Paducah; and Mrs. Dan J. Hennessy, of 126 Hepburn avenue. Two other daughters, Miss Mary and Miss Mary, became nuns. A son, Charles, died a few years ago. License Inspector William J. Sullivan and Officer Dennis Sullivan were nephews of the deceased. Mr. Sullivan was for thirty-five years a foreman for Cornwell Brothers' soap factory, and was held in high esteem by all who knew him. He had been ill many months and his death was not unexpected. The funeral services were largely attended.

PROTECTION

For the Home and Family Assured by Citizens' Life.

Americans have the reputation of loving their homes and families. The American not only provides for those depending on him in life, but he sees that they are provided for in case of his death. To do this he looks around for the safest and most advantageous proposition offered by life insurance companies. A life insurance policy is a necessity in America. There are many companies that afford protection to the home, but it is all the more desirable when he finds that the company has its headquarters in his home town. Hence it is that so many Louisville people are anxious to take out policies in the Citizens Life Insurance Company, whose headquarters are in this city. It has a capital of $500,000, and the majority of its stockholders are residents of Louisville.

Behind the Citizens Life is M. V. Burd, its managing director, frequently referred to as the "human dynamo." Mr. Burd came to Louisville eighteen years ago, and began his business career as a stock boy in a large retail store. Energy and enthusiasm forced him to rise, and he is now Vice President of the Louisville Dry Goods Company, a director in the Franklin Bank, as well as being the managing director of the Citizens Life. Mr. Burd has also been active in such progressive organizations as the Louisville Commercial Club, the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, and holds membership in Post 2, Travelers' Protective Association.

Mr. Burd holds a large policy in the Citizens Life and was one of the first to recognize the good that such a company would accomplish for the people and the city.

PASTOR IS IMPROVED.

The Rev. Father J. H. Boersig, who has been quite ill of blood poisoning at the home of his sister, Mrs. John Mueller, New Albany, is convalescent. He expects to return to his duties as pastor of St. Mary's church at Madison, Ind., at an early date. His friends are rejoicing over his speedy recovery.

EUCCHARISTIC

Congress at London Will Be the Most Notable Gathering in England.

Nine Cardinals Will Grace the Assembly With Their Presence.

Thousands of Distinguished Churchmen Will Be in Attendance.

GRAND RELIGIOUS CEREMONIES

The International Eucharistic Congress will be solemnly inaugurated at Westminster Cathedral, London, at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. The congress bids fair to be one of the most notable gatherings ever held in England.

It was originally intended to limit the membership tickets to 6,000, but these were all disposed of several weeks ago, and arrangements now are on foot for the accommodation of a much larger number. The Duke of Norfolk is taking an active part in the arrangements, and as Chairman of the Reception Committee he is organizing a welcome for the Papal delegate, Cardinal Vannutelli, who is to act as President of the Congress and who is to arrive in London September 8. Eight other Cardinals will be present. Cardinal Gibbons, whose name is a household word in the United States, intends to visit several important English cities after the congress concludes its sittings.

Another famous visitor will be Prince Max of Saxony, who was for some years a Catholic curate in Whitechapel, London. He is now an Archbishop and domestic Chaplain to the Pope, and is to be found for the first time in England. The Archbishop of Bourges has issued cordial invitations over his own hand to all Catholic members of Parliament, but as those members are few in number, the Irish representatives who have returned to Ireland, it is not expected they will be present in large numbers.

In all, nine Cardinals will be in attendance—Gibbons, of Baltimore; Manning, of London; Bourges, of France; Lecot, of Bordeaux; Fischer, of Cologne; Mercier, of Mechlin; Ferrari, of Milan; Mathieu, of Toulouse, and the special Papal legate, Cardinal Vannutelli.

On the morning of Thursday, at 9 o'clock, the high mass will be celebrated in the Cathedral, while in the afternoon at 5 there will be vespers and benediction. Between these two hours—that is to say from 10:30 till 12:30 in the early part of the day and from 2:30 till 4:30 in the afternoon—the sectional meetings will be held. In the morning the meetings will take place in the Albert Hall, and on Friday, September 11, the programme will closely follow that of the previous day, so far as the services in the Cathedral and the sectional meetings are concerned. In the evening, however, the meeting in the Albert Hall will take the form of a reception by Cardinal Vannutelli, the Papal legate.

On Saturday, September 12, there will be high mass in the Byzantine rite in the Cathedral at 9 o'clock, and sections of the mass will be celebrated in the afternoon. The list of features will be varied by a children's service in the Cathedral, and a procession of the Blessed Sacrament and Benediction. Arrangements are also being made for the holding of a great market, and in the afternoon at 4 o'clock there will be a procession of the Blessed Sacrament, "Te Deum," benediction and solemn closing of the congress.

Nothing in the least to match these two services will ever have been seen in England since the Reformation, whilst, in the matter of the number of Cardinals present, they will be quite unprecedented in recent times outside of Italy.

WEST END

Inhabitants Held Annual Picnic and Enjoyed the Day.

The annual picnic of West Enders was held August 26 at Spring Bank Park, and was attended by one of the largest and jolliest gatherings that has ever been present at these delightful affairs. The dancing hall was beautifully decorated with vines and shrubbery, where a delicious dinner and supper was served. Among the features of the day was potato and sack racing and a watermelon contest. The first prize was won by Miss Annie Ford, the second by S. M. Raffo, while the third was won by Howl Johnson.

Among those who participated in the day's pleasure were Mr. and Mrs. S. Raffo, Laura Affo, Charles Gerardi, Mabel Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Howl Johnson, Pickett Johnson, Ruth Schacklighter, Mrs. Mary O'Neill, Margaret and Louise O'Neill, Mrs. Lily O'Hearn, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Savage, Mary Elizabeth Savage, Mrs. William Ford, Miss Annie Ford, Mary Alice Ford, Dr. and Mrs. Bernard O'Connor, Louise, Catherine and Helen O'Connor, Miss Tekla Rosen, Mrs. Cassie Pogell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Loran, Marion, Catherine and Robert Loran, Jr., John H. Coleman, Marie Coleman, Henry, Donald and Margaret Coleman, Miss Lottie McDonald, Miss Stella O'Connor, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard King, Margaret Dorothy, Ethelbert and Will Baird King, Mrs. Mary Savage, John and Neal Dalton.

RETIRES.

Venerable Pastor of St. John's Feels That His Work Is Done.

Father Bax Will Take Well Earned Rest After Long Service.

Leaves Splendid Record For Others in His Sphere to Emulate.

SUCCESSOR IS NOT YET NAMED

After serving fifty-five years in the diocese of Louisville and fifty-two years as pastor of St. John's church, Clay and Walnut streets, the venerable and Very Rev. Father Lawrence Bax feels that his work is done. He has resigned as pastor of St. John's and will take a well earned vacation. While he has made no definite plans for the future it is probable that Father Bax will soon journey to Europe to take a long rest in his native country, Holland, where he has many relations, among them a nephew and a grandnephew in the priesthood. Both of these clergymen were in Louisville a few years ago when Father Bax celebrated his golden jubilee.

"I am growing old," said Father Bax to a representative of the Kentucky Irish American a few days ago. "I feel that my work is done. I am voluntarily resigning my charge, and retire with the feeling that I have not an enemy in the world. I have not yet determined when nor where I will go. I have one record to be proud of, I feel. It is that I am leaving St. John's without one cent of debt on any part of the church property. I am resigning voluntarily. I love the people of St. John's and shall never forget them. There are people in this parish whom I have married and whose grandchildren I have married. I will find it very hard to leave some of them good-bye. Maybe I shall return to die among them. For Louisville, for Kentucky and for the people of St. John's I have the kindest regard, and hope that the people of my old parish, of the city and of the State will continue to be blessed."

Father Bax was born in Holland over eighty years ago. Early in his youth he became a student for the priesthood and resolved to devote his life to work in American missions. He was ordained in 1833 and soon after came to the Louisville diocese. He was the Right Rev. Martin John Spalding at that time Bishop of Louisville. He was made teacher of theology at St. Joseph's Seminary, Bardonia, a post he occupied three years. Among his pupils in those days were the late Father Lawler, of St. Patrick's; Father Disney, of the Sacred Heart church, and Fathers Bachmann and Crane, of Louisville, and Mackey, of Cincinnati, Ohio. The latter three are still alive.

In 1856 Father Bax came to Louisville to assume the pastorate of St. John's church, which at that time was a small frame structure on Jefferson street, near Freelon. His pastorate extended from Brook street on the west to the limits of Jefferson county on the east, and from the Ohio river on the north to Bullitt county's line. In two years he had built the present stately brick structure at Clay and Walnut streets that will remain long as a monument to him. Father Bax also built school houses and a rectory, embellished and adorned the church from time to time, and within a few years after its erection had the pleasure to assist at its consecration. He has had a conference of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, an altar society and sodalities for young ladies, girls and boys in active operation for more than fifty years. He is the oldest priest in the diocese, and with the past year celebrated his golden jubilee, having been for three couples that he married fifty years ago. They were the anniversaries of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baron and Mr. and Mrs. John Murray.

Father Bax is well beloved by his people and when he goes the prayers of his old parishioners for a long life and a happy death will follow him. The exact date for his retirement has not been set, nor will it be until his successor has been named by the Right Rev. Bishop McCloskey. At present the Rev. Father Daniel F. Gallagher is assisting Father Bax in ministering to his flock, and the people of St. John's have learned to esteem him highly in the brief time he has been among them.

TRANSFERRED TO TRENTON.

The Rev. Father Lucius Matt, O. F. M., who has been pastor of St. Anthony's church in Jeffersonville for several years, has been transferred to Trenton, N. J. He preached his farewell sermon last Sunday. He will be succeeded by Rev. Father Stephen O. F. M., who has been his assistant. This was Father Matt's second term as pastor at St. Anthony's, and he was well beloved by the people of Jeffersonville.

FATHER MATHEW MAN.

Martin Dalton, of Knocknagorma, County Limerick, Ireland, recently celebrated the sixty-sixth anniversary of taking the pledge from the lamented Father Theobald Matthew. Mr. Dalton has never broken his pledge. He is now eighty-nine years old, and walks two miles to mass every Sunday morning. This patriarch is an uncle of D. J. Coleman, the well known Louisville Hibernian.

DONATED TO CHARITY.

The trustees of St. Agnes Cemetery Association, of Syracuse, N. Y., have voted $5,000 to the building fund of the new House of Providence of that city.

DELEGATES

To A. O. H. State Convention Will Get Hundred Thousands and Welcomes.

Divisions Will Be Represented by Full Quota of Electors.

Ladies' Auxiliary Will Also Hold Convention in This City.

SOCIAL FUNCTIONS ARRANGED

Everything is in readiness for the State convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, which is to be held in this city on Monday and Tuesday, September 14 and 15. The business sessions, the banquet and reception will all be held at the Galt House. All of the divisions in the State have promptly responded to the call signed by State President Butler and the other officers, and there is every assurance that each division will be represented by its full quota of delegates and alternates. The County Board met Friday night and perfected the final arrangements for the business and social features. The Ladies' Auxiliary will hold its State convention here at the same time, and its delegates and visitors will take part in the social functions.

Committees from the A. O. H. and the Ladies' Auxiliary will meet the delegates on Sunday, September 13, to receive the incoming delegates and visitors. In the afternoon they will be given a trolley ride over the city. Monday morning, September 14, the first business session will be held. President Butler will call the meeting to order at 9 o'clock. The other State officers are State Chaplain Right Rev. C. P. Maes, Bishop of Covington; State Vice President James B. Dempsey, of Paris; State Secretary James M. Hunt, of Covington; State Treasurer, John B. Bardine, of Ashland.

The banquet will be held at the Galt House at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening. County President John A. Murphy has been selected as toastmaster for the occasion, and the speakers will be State President Butler, the Right Rev. Maes, State President of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Judge M. T. Shine, of Covington, and others to be yet selected. After the banquet the delegates, alternates and members will have a reception and dance. The menu card is being prepared by the local Entertainment Committee as are handsome as ever seen in this city.

The banquet at the Galt House will be arranged in Manager O'Shaughnessy's best style, and the delegates may be prepared for a feast of the best that the market affords. After the banquet the reception and dance will be held at the old Athletic Club, now known as the University School, Fifth and Zane streets. Every member of the order in Louisville will be given tickets for himself and lady friends to attend the reception and dance.

Miss Mary Corcoran, State President, and other local members of the Ladies' Auxiliary are working in harmony with the Hibernians in arranging for the convention. Ashland, Covington, Newport and Paris will be represented. In fact a party of thirty ladies are coming from Covington to take part in the convention. The headquarters for the ladies during the convention will be at the Catholic Woman's Club.

ALTERNATES.

Division 1 Had a Splendid Business Session This Week.

Division 1, A. O. H., had a splendid business meeting and a large attendance Tuesday night. President John M. Mulloy and Secretary Thomas Keenan, Jr., were in their respective chairs. Patrick Filburn and Thomas Driscoll are to be initiated at the next meeting. Patrick White, one was injured in a street car accident several weeks ago, was reported well and at work.

President Mulloy made the formal announcement that Division 1 would give a euchre on the night of October 20. He also made a full report

QUESTIONS TO BE ANSWERED

When County Clerk Mark Gabhart read the Kentucky Irish American last Saturday he packed his grip and quietly hied himself to French Lick Springs. Of course he will return, but in all probability he will be a little more circumspect about his conduct when he gets home. No other paper in Louisville said a word about the row at Twenty-fifth and Market streets in which Mr. Gabhart figured, and as a consequence the Kentucky Irish American is being heralded as the only real, dyed-in-the-wool Democratic paper in Louisville.

It would take a daily paper, with all reporters working overtime, a whole week to recount all the things that happened in local political circles this week. For instance, none of the daily papers has informed its readers that one of the new Lieutenants of Police within the past year served a term of thirty-two days in the Workhouse because he could not raise the money to pay his fine nor find friends to go on his bond.

Councilman John L. Richardson, in an open meeting of the General Council, opened up his batteries again on C. C. Stoll, of the Board of Public Works. Mr. Stoll made an explanation that failed to explain why he was averse to paying his portion for an alley in the Highlands, but he has made no attempt to explain why he had no time to spare for the non-salaried office of Park Commissioner, but grabbed at the place on the Board of Works with a $2,500 salary attached. Mr. Richardson's efforts to rebuke Mr. Stoll were turned down in the lower house of the General Council, but Mr. Richardson "got his," as the slang phrase goes, when he appeared in the Police Court Wednesday.

Mr. Richardson is an able attorney, a good, clean fighter and an ardent Republican, but he lined up against the Fusionists and half-breed Republicans that are seeking to control things in this city's "House of a Thousand Scandals." A month or more ago he slapped the jaws of Alex G. Jarret, Chairman of the Board of Public Works, after Mr. Jarret had intimated that Councilman Richardson told a falsehood. Later Mr. Jarret swore out a warrant charging Mr. Richardson with assault and battery. The case was called, the charge amended to assault and battery and set for last Wednesday. William F. Krieger heard the case. Mr. Richardson was ably represented by United States Senator-elect W. O. Bradley, and the Commonwealth by Col. Thomas Bullitt. Judge Krieger ordered a fine of $19 and a bond of $500 for a year. Had he made it $20 Mr. Richardson would have taken an appeal, or had the original charge of assault and battery been left without amendment Mr. Richardson might have had a trial by jury. As it stands he has reprieved the fine, given bond, and is awaiting developments.

Weeds and niggers are now engaging the attention of the Republican city administration. The city has a street cleaning department and its employees are paid to keep the highways clean, but they are not doing it. A negro employee of the city's Health Department has been serving notices on property owners to get out and cut the weeds from their sidewalks and gutters. Strange to say that while many individual property owners have received notices and have complied with the orders of the Health Department, no effort seems to have been made to force the big trust companies or large real estate dealers to remove their weeds.

On M street, between Fourth and Fifth, the city has caused a lot of broken rock to be dumped. In the course of a few months this lime-stone rock will have dwindled into dust, and then the owners of abutting property will escape paying for what should be the original improvement of the street.

Is it true that the Firemen's Pension Fund has been diverted to other purposes, and there is no money available now for payment to the men who were injured in the discharge of their duties, or to go to the support of the wives and children of those brave men who suffered death in fighting fires? What has become of the ordinance to grant $25,000 to the university fund? Did the Kentucky Irish American kill that graft? Will somebody please answer?

FONTAINE FERRY PARK.

Fontaine Ferry Park was thronged every afternoon and evening this week, and its patrons are extremely sorry that the season is drawing to a close. With the Labor day celebration Monday afternoon and evening the park will close for the year. The able management has proven popular with the masses, and it is one popular resort that has made money during the present season.

TO TEACH IRISH HISTORY.

The Rev. Father John Cavanaugh, President of Notre Dame College, has announced that a chair of Irish history has been established at his university. The faculty has had the matter under advisement for a year. It is understood that a distinguished Gaelic scholar from Dublin University will occupy the chair.

DOING WELL.

The Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. H., met Wednesday night with a splendid attendance. Miss Rose Sweeney occupied the chair. Seven members were initiated and four applications were received. It was decided to hold a special meeting at the home of Miss Mary Corcoran next Friday night to complete arrangements for the State convention which is to be held here on September 14.

The members showed their appreciation of Division 1's visit to their home, lawn fete at Miss Mary Corcoran's residence, by giving a rising vote of thanks. Many of the ladies expressed their approval of the arrangements that have been made to entertain the visitors. The reports show that a handsome profit was made on the lawn fete.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

As the year wanes the people who have the best interests of the country at heart are looking anxiously forward to November. They want to bring about a change in conditions. They know that an all-wise God has provided bounteous crops for the United States; that the mines of the country are laden with wealth in copper, zinc, iron, gold and silver; they know that fat cattle are grazing on the finest pastures in the world, but they also know that there are hundreds of thousands of wage earners in the country out of employment. The fathers, brothers and sons of these United States believe in protecting their homes and families, but they believe that the ballot is the best means of securing the necessary protection.

They indorse the views of William Jennings Bryan and of John W. Kern; they indorse the Democratic platform adopted at Denver; they stand for a vigorous tariff reform; for a fight against the encroachments of the railroads and other trusts.

In Indiana Tom Marshall will lead the Democratic hosts to victory. In New York the rank and file of the Republicans will aid in defeating Gov. Hughes for re-election. In Illinois, and in fact in every doubtful State, there can be no doubt about the victories in store for Democrats.

Kentucky will line up with the solid South as usual, and on the day after election Taft, Sherman and Hitchcock will be unusually busy telling what happened to them and how it occurred.

SEES THE LIGHT.

It does our dissenting brethren a world of good to mix with the Catholic clergy and to hear an occasional Catholic sermon. Rev. Charles D. Kellogg, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Sandy Hill, N. Y., writes a very interesting letter to the Sandy Hill Herald from Boston. In the first paragraph the reverend gentleman pays a fine tribute to Archbishop O'Connell, and makes some candid admissions regarding the Archbishop's criticism of modern Protestantism. That portion of Mr. Kellogg's letter to which we refer is as follows:

"As the local papers state that I am spending my vacation in the city of Boston, I may admit that I was in that famous town last Sunday, and possibly may bring to the attention of your readers some items of interest that I gathered during my brief sojourn. The day was of especial importance to our Roman Catholic brethren in connection with the great Federation movement. Archbishop O'Connell is one of the strong men of New England, a grand type of the noblest Christian manhood. He preached the sermon in the Cathedral, and set forth some vital truths that all Protestants will do well carefully and thoughtfully to consider. Among these is the undisputed fact that we are not succeeding in retaining the interest of the men in the services of the church in any degree to compare with our brethren of the Roman Catholic church. That we are not paying the same deference to the inspired Scriptures as they. That whilst in a former day the Bible among many of our number was a fetish, it is now a fable. And as a still more solemn and alarming fact of the times, we are not extending to our boys and girls the influence in our schools of a moral and religious education. That we are teaching them everything about science and nothing about God. These constitute the leading points in the eloquent indictment of the Archbishop, to which your correspondent is convinced it would be wise for the Protestant world to take heed."

TO BE ENCOURAGED.

The Catholic Federation has accomplished a great deal, although many people are slow to realize it. The Federation has drawn forth favorable criticisms from the able, intelligent and public spirited people of all classes. The Boston Herald says, about the recent convention of the Federation of Catholic Societies: "The cause of civic reform in many communities has received valuable assistance from the Catholic clergy of late. Unhappy conditions, such as those which have aroused the protesting indignation of Archbishop O'Connell and others in Boston, have existed in many other cities. Corruption and inefficiency in public service have not been a matter of race and creed. But it is a fact that designing and unscrupulous politicians, seeking office for selfish purposes, have traded upon the natural bonds of race and faith for their own personal advantage. Having gained office and opportunity, they have betrayed not only the public trust, but the honor and name of church and race of which, by reason of their public station, they claimed to be representatives before the world. There are no parallel lines of religious faith and politics in this country. The Catholic church owes no greater duty to the cause of good government than does the church organization of any other denomination. Betrayers of the public trust, of whatever faith, are misrepresentative of their religious creed which, in its application to civic relations, requires faithful rendering unto Caesar of the things which are Caesar's. The demand of the Archbishop that the men of the Catholic church align themselves by the highest standard of honesty and integrity and tolerate no Catholic man in public office who by his acts brings shame and dishonor to his church and her teachings is not a new inspiration as to religious duty. It is as old as the church itself, and it applies to the church in whatever form wherever allegiance is claimed to the Christian faith."

When daily and non-religious papers have such good words, the Catholic press certainly ought to encourage and foster the cause of federation.

SOUND ADVICE.

Three hundred teaching nuns of the archdiocese of St. Louis assembled in that city last week for their annual institute. The principal address was delivered by Archbishop Glennon. Among other things he said: "Don't be afraid to be advertised. Be up to date. Let the world know what you are doing." The same advice might be given to Catholic teachers in every diocese.

WILL CELEBRATE.

Mackin Council Reaches Fifteenth Anniversary of Establishment.

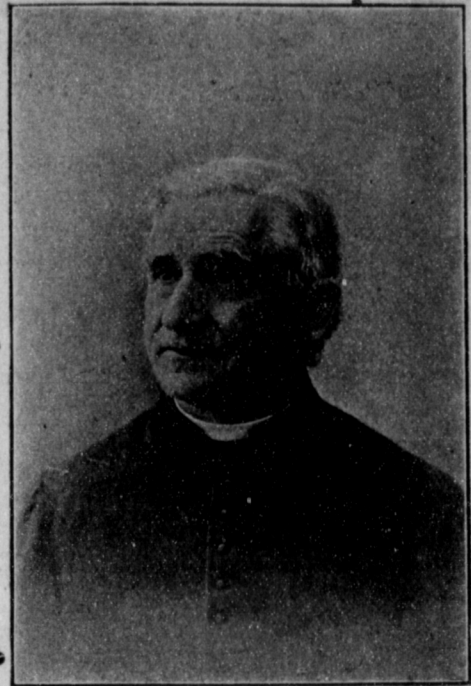

Four new members were elected by Mackin Council Tuesday night and three applications were received. President Robert T. Burke occupied the chair, and the attendance was excellent. Bernard Recktenwald and John L. Boland, who were on the sick list, were reported improving, while D. J. Hummel, V. J. Bohn and John C. Schaeffer were reported quite ill.

Next Thursday night Mackin Council will give an entertainment, and Hon. Edward J. McDermott will deliver the principal address. The event will be in celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of the establishment of the council, and all members and their lady friends are invited to attend. The committee in charge hopes that 100 applications will be presented on that night, and urges its husters to make additional efforts to bring in new members.

HILL OF TARA TO BE EXPLORED.

The Hill of Tara, which was once the seat of the high kings of Ireland, is to be excavated and thoroughly explored under the direction of a joint committee of the Royal Society of Antiquaries, the Royal Irish Academy, the Archaeological Society of Louth, Kildare, Cork and Waterford and the Literary Societies of Dublin and London. Several proposals to explore the hill in the past have been defeated on account of the outburst of public indignation at what, it was felt, was a proposal to destroy one of Ireland's historic monuments, but it is promised now that the exploration shall be carried out in a thoroughly scientific manner, and that neither the appearance or the fabric of the hill will be affected. It is hoped that a great mass of objects of antiquarian and historical interest will be unearthed. Many of the best examples of ancient Irish ornaments and jewelry have been found in the vicinity of Tara.

The newest shippers are made of furniture, brocade, tapestries are also being put to the same use.

SWEET VOICE.

"O father, I wish I could sing! It's so nice to give pleasure to people.
Florence sang at the club today, and we all enjoyed it so much. She sings every night to her father, too. I'd give anything if I could, but there's no use wishing; I can't sing."

"Is that so?" asked the father, taking her wristful face between his hands. "Well, perhaps you can't sing;
but don't tell me your voice has no music in it. Tell me it's full of music."

"Why, father, how can you say so?"
"Almost every evening," answered the father, "when I come home the first thing I hear is a merry laugh, and it rests me, no matter how tired
I am. Yesterday I heard that voice say: 'Don't cry, Buddie; sister will mend it for you.' Sometimes I hear it reading to grandmother. Last week I heard it telling Mary: 'I'm sorry your head aches; I'll do the dishes tonight.'"

"That's the kind of music I like best. Don't tell me my little daughter hasn't a sweet voice!"

What They Have Been Doing
the Past Week—General
News Notes.

The Ladies' Auxiliary is preparing to entertain its visitors in true Kentucky style.

Division 2 held a well attended meeting Friday night and the usual routine business was transacted.

The Rev. Father John R. Moran, of Youngstown, has been chosen to succeed himself as State Chaplain in Ohio.

Division 1 showed its appreciation of the efforts of the Ladies' Auxiliary by attending their lawn fete in a body.

Division 9 of St. Paul, Minn., entertained the ladies of Division 2, Ladies' Auxiliary, last week with a card party and dance.

A good attendance was on hand at Division 3's meeting Thursday night, and reports on arrangements for the State convention were made.

Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary are urged to attend the special meeting next Friday night at the residence of Miss Mary Corcoran.

The ladies of Division 9, Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Paul, presented Miss Nellie McCall with a seal ring to show their appreciation of her activity in organizing the division.

Division 4 has been called in special session on Sunday afternoon, September 13. This will take the place of the regular meeting which would have been held on the following night.

Thirty-eight of the eighty-eight counties in Ohio have divisions, while the military branch has seven companies in the State. The present State officers promise to prosecute a vigorous campaign for new members.

The late Maurice F. Wilhere, former National President of the order, in his will left $1,000 to help provide a home for aged and indigent members, and another $1,000 to John E. Redmond, leader of the Irish party in Parliament.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Illinois elected the following State officers in their State convention at Springfield: State President, Mrs. Mary McWhorter, Chicago; Vice President, Mrs. Margaret Mooney, East St. Louis; Secretary, Mrs. Anna Coldor, Joliet; Treasurer, Mrs. Annie E. Johnson, Chicago.

RECENT DEATHS.

Mrs. Sallie Hurley, an estimable young matron of the West End, died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hurley, Monday morning, September 10, at 10:30 a.m. The funeral took place from St. Patrick's church Wednesday morning.

Miss Marguerite O'Connell, fifteen years old, died at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Garvey, 223 Brook street, Sunday morning. The deceased was a most lovely girl, and her funeral, which took place from St. Michael's church Monday morning, was attended by a large circle of sorrowing friends.

The funeral of Mrs. Catherine Dowd, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Hunchman, 1814 West Walnut street, last Saturday, took place from Sacred Heart church Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Dowd was well known and highly respected in the western part of the city, where she had long resided.

Mrs. Cecilia J. Horan, a venerable member of St. Patrick's congregation, died at the home of her son, Thomas J. Horan, 1827 Portland avenue, last Saturday morning. She had been ill two months. The deceased was highly esteemed by all who knew her. The funeral took place from St. Patrick's church Monday morning.

John Hallinan, Sr., seventy-four years old, died at the family residence, 2124 Portland avenue, early Monday morning, and his funeral took place from St. Cecilia's church Wednesday morning. The deceased was an old and respected citizen of the West End. His wife and the following children survive: Thomas Hallinan, of San Francisco; John P. Hallinan, of New York; Mrs. Larkin Adams, Mrs. Patrick Giltneane and Miss Mary Hallinan, all of this city, and two brothers, Thomas and Robert Hallinan, also of Louisville.

William Baldwin, an old and respected resident of the West End, died at his home, 1724 West Chestnut street, Friday afternoon or last week. Mr. Baldwin came to Louisville from Ireland fifty years ago, and was a successful contracting plasterer. His wife and the following children survive: J. R. Baldwin, State representative of the American Tobacco Company; D. A. Baldwin, of St. Louis; Mrs. W. C. Wuersch and Misses Ella and Mary Baldwin, of Louisville. The funeral took place from the Sacred Heart church Monday morning.

The funeral of Edward J. Crowley, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Katherine Mellett, 923 Dumaine street, last Saturday, took place from St. Louis Bertrand's church Monday morning. The deceased was born in Ireland seventy-six years ago, but had followed the trade of plasterer and bricklayer in Louisville fifty-three years. He is survived by the following children: Mrs. Bridget Logan, of St. Louis; Mrs. Julia Cunningham, of Chicago; Mrs. Annie Llewellyn, of New York City; Mrs. Josie Marshall, Mrs. Katherine Mellett and Edward Crowley, Jr.

time without a break during the remainder of the summer, fall and winter. The Crawford films have proved very popular in Louisville, as has been attested by the large attendance during the exhibitions in Louisville.

PULL FOR THE COLONELS.

Every man, woman and child interested in the progress of Louisville ought to be at the ball park this afternoon and tomorrow, cheer Jimmy Burke and his Colonels to victory in their contests against the Indianapolis team. The Colonels have made a hard fight, and their work has only emphasized what one Kentucky Irish American has said all along, a winning ball team is the best advertisement the city could have. The Colonels have returned home in first place and all Louisville should pull to keep them there until they land the pennant. The public is pleased with the management of the club under the regime of Messrs. Barker and Chivington, and at no time in the history of the game has it been so popular in Louisville.

TRAINED MISSIONARIES.

The Paulist Fathers have established a missionary band at Stoneville, Mass. All of the priests are sons of the diocese of Springfield and are trained in missionary work.

NEARING CLOSE.

Beginning Monday only one more week remains of the seventh session of the Catholic Summer School at Cliff Haven. The school has been more than ordinarily successful this year.

PLAY FOR CHARITY.

Memphis has a splendid city baseball league. Quite a friendly rivalry exists between the Y. M. I. team and the Dan Shea's. These teams will play a game for charity's sake on September 19.

OUT OF SEASON.

"What are you playing, children?" asked mother. "We're playing church. I'm the choir, and Ruth is the congregation and Tommy's the organist." "But who's the minister?" "Why, mother! We don't have any. It's summer, and all the ministers are in Europe."

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

Several valuable pearls have been found in the rivers near Strabane, County Tyrone.

Tenants on the Hawkshaw property, County Louth, are about to sign purchase agreements.

Fire destroyed a quantity of hay on the premises of John Byrne, County Louth, but the barns were saved from destruction.

Only the aged persons who have no farms and no children to look after them will receive the benefit of the old age pension act.

Sister Mary Borgia Hurley, of the Mercy Convent, Kinsdale, County Cork, is dead. She had been a nun for more than half a century.

Mrs. Mary McGeehan, of Brochag, County Donegal, has celebrated her 100th birthday. She has never been further than ten miles from home.

John Donahue's public house at Clones burned to the ground and three of the Donahue family were rescued from the flames with difficulty.

Patrick McCaul, eighty-five years old, and who had returned from the United States to take up his old holdings near Ballytrain, died at the hospital in Carrickmacross.

Sister Mary Doyle, of the convent of the Sisters of Charity, Merion, near Dublin, walked in her sleep to a pond on the grounds and was drowned. She had been a victim of somnambulism for months.

Edward Bailey, twenty-three years old, was run over by a train near Dunfer, and his injuries were so severe that he died at the Drogheda hospital on the following day. He is survived by an aged father and mother.

William Moore, a farm laborer at Limvady, County Derry, became entangled in a coil of rope and was pulled from a haystack. His fall resulted in concussion of the brain, and at last accounts he was in his recovery were entertained.

Michael Gartlan, of Dromiskin, fell between the platform and the steps of a carriage in attempting to alight from a train at Castlebellingham station. One of his legs was badly lacerated, and the unfortunate man was removed to the Louth infirmary.

Miss Florence Manley, twenty-two years old, and her brother, Fred Manley, eight years of age, were drowned in the river near Clones. Miss Manley was employed as a stenographer in Dublin, and came home on a vacation. She had purchased a toy boat for her brother, and he in attempting to sail it fell into the river. Miss Manley was drowned in attempting to rescue the boy.

YOUR CHANCE.

Ambitious Authors Have Opportunity Afforded Them.

Extension, a monthly magazine published in the interest of the Catholic Church Extension Society, has made a splendid proposition in its September number to ambitious young Catholic writers. The editor of Extension wants bright, clever short stories. He wants something with a "go," something about people with good, rich, red blood in their veins. Extension offers $100 for the best story; $50 for the next best, and $25 for the adjudged third prize.

None of these stories are to contain more than 2,000, not more than 3,000 words. The stories may deal with any phase of life, either serious or humorous. They must not be necessarily excessively religious or devotional. Full particulars can be ascertained by writing to the editor of Extension, Chicago, Ill.

HINTS ON STYLE.

The white embroidered and braided belts are the belts sold for shirt-waists.

The Charlotte hat with lace flounce and flowers is the hat for midsummer wear.

The newest handbag is of white linen. It is attractive and dainty in the extreme.

White elastic belts studded with steel nail heads are shown in the narrow and girder widths.

A shell ribbon needle for drawing the ribbon through the hair is now considered a necessity for a complete outfit.

The noblest waistcoats are of fancy cretonnes. These are supposed to give color to the most somber costumes.

The latest hat pins have enormous flat or round heads. The real amber and the imitation are especially popular.

Wire rolls are now being used as rolls for the hair, instead of those made of hair. They are lighter and healthier.

The princess underslips are the proper thing for lingerie gowns. They are not expensive and are to be had in all colors.

Never have silk gloves been so popular. They are being worn in all lengths, from mitts to the high glove for evening wear.

The newest sash is made of the moire and bearing ribbons. It is tied with two small loops and two long ends at the center of the back.

New York is the greatest hotel city in the world and its hotel property is valued at $92,000,000.

CHURCH EXTENSION.

The archdiocese of New York is spending half a million dollars for new churches this year. Plans for churches in the same archdiocese next year provide for an outlay of not less than $1,000,000.

CHEAP SILVER POLISH.

Those who have aluminum cooking utensils in their kitchen will find that they can make their silver look like new by simply boiling it in clean water in an aluminum dish. It is the cheapest, best, and quickest silver polish in existence.
